Our pillars of work

- Carry out innovative, demonstrative and reproducible projects associated with technical studies and research actions to demonstrate opportunities
- Organize meetings and conferences or participate in them in order to multiply the opportunities for sharing, exchanges and debates
- Publish research results in a format adapted to the targeted audiences in order to pool and share knowledge and go beyond the restricted circles of experts and the usual dissemination circles
- Educate, train and build capacities so that everyone can understand, know, feel concerned and act
- Communicate to as many people as possible to inform, mobilize and invite them to act
