

POLICY

ACTION

RESOURCES

NETWORK

- Energy
- Transport
- Water
- Forests
- Agriculture
- Tourism
- Consumption
- Health
- ...

Welcome to www.gendercc.net the platform for information and networking on gender and climate change

» Information about the gender dimension of international climate policy, the United Nations conferences on climate change (UNFCCC), topics discussed there, and areas of climate policy action

» Databases with literature and case studies from around the world demonstrating the need for gender sensitive climate policies and measures

» Guidelines and tools how to integrate the gender perspective in the various policy areas

» Who is who in gender and climate change, calendar of events, campaigns

www.gendercc.net

Public attention to climate change is growing, and women's perspectives and gender aspects in climate change policies and measures need to play a bigger role in the debate.

www.gendercc.net provides information and tools to serve women's organisations, environmental organisations, policy-makers, international agencies, scholars, and others.

www.gendercc.net offers access to data and analyses, case studies from different regions on the impacts of climate change on women and men, and on the effects of climate change policy on gender relations, and findings on the innovative potential of integrating gender perspectives into climate policy - we are bundling here much that is not well known and often difficult to find.

www.gendercc.net bridges the knowledge gap and supports networking among gender and climate change experts, decision makers, project developers, and journalists in climate change.

gendercc - women for climate justice is the global network of women, gender activists, and gender scholars from all world regions working for gender and climate justice.

Contact

gendercc - women for climate justice

c/o LIFE e.V. | Dircksenstr. 47 | 10178 Berlin | Germany

info@gendercc.net

www.gendercc.net