

Sant'Anna
School of Advanced Studies – Pisa

Climate Justice Finance: From Global Perspectives to Local Solutions

UN Climate Change Conference Official Side Event

Monday, 14 November 2022, 15:00-16:30, Room: Tutankhamun

The side event “Climate Justice Finance: From Global Perspectives to Local Solutions” intends to address the main theoretical and practical issues underlying just climate finance. After an introduction on the $100bn/year by 2020 climate finance goal and its relevance to wider negotiations, participants will focus on four questions. First, which vulnerability criteria should guide the allocation of climate justice finance towards the global south. Second, whether and how the aspects of procedural justice underpinning the management of climate finance should be further enhanced. Third, whether climate justice finance should be allocated to vulnerable individuals rather than their representatives. Fourth, how the normative discourse on climate justice finance should be linked to climate reparations, not least by “Big Oil” companies.

Introduction: Alberto Pirni (Sant'Anna School of Advanced Studies, Italy)

Speakers: Jocelyn Timperley (Freelance Climate Journalist, UK), M. Mahamoudou Savadogo (Climate Change Expert, Benkadi Burkina Faso, SPONG), Sosso Feindouno (FERDI, France), Indira Basu (IYCN, India), Srishti Singh (COY17, India), Marco Grasso, (Università Milano-Bicocca, Italy), Christian Baatz (Kiel University, Germany)

Contacts: Riccardo Luporini,
Fausto Corvino (SSSA, Italy),
Audrey-Anne De Ubéda,
Matthieu Boussichas (FERDI, France),
Ashish Pahwa (IYCN, India)