

Effective implementation of adaptation: Learning from experience in biodiversity and desertification

Time: Monday, 09 June 2008, 18:00 - 20:00

Location: Ministry of Environment, WIND

National action plans have become an increasingly popular tool for promoting national implementation of international environmental agreements. As many National Adaptation Plans of Action (NAPAs) enter the implementation phase, there may still be time to learn from other experiences to better achieve global and national expectations while facing the challenges of adaptation to climate change.

Presentation

NAPAs, NAPs and NBSAPs: Improving the Effectiveness of National Planning Exercises under Multilateral Environment Treaties

Anju Sharma (Consultant)

Panel

Dr. Anneke Trux (GTZ; Moderator)

Bubu Jallow (Least Developed Countries Expert Group, Chair)

Minister t.b.c. (Minister of Water and Environment, Uganda)

Sem Shikongo (CBD National Focal Point, Namibia)

Dr. Christian Mersmann (Managing Director Global Mechanism)

Snacks and drinks will be served