The Clean Energy Financing Forums bring together leading clean energy project developers and entrepreneurs from the respective region / country with investors, fund managers and banks that specialize in the clean energy sector. Selected projects receive intensive coaching on the preparation and presentation of their business plans and are showcased to the specially convened investors and financiers. Each forum typically also includes project development and financing workshops, an investor workshop, a high-level policy roundtable and a business plan competition to showcase some of the most promising clean energy investment opportunities in CTI PFAN's development pipeline. Projects are selected through respective calls for proposals. More details at www.cti-pfan.net.
