

Side event:

Our Vision for Gender Justice in Copenhagen Outcomes

Room Swan, December 9, 2008

Gender and climate change experts from Africa, Asia, Latin America, Pacific and Europe will present experiences and achievements, gaps and strategies for making the future climate regime fair to women and men.

We will present proposals for the integration of gender into the UNFCCC process, which were developed from local experiences during the conference “Gender Justice in Times of a Changing Climate”.

Panelists:

- Maira Zahur from Pakistan, representing Gender and Disaster Network
- Claudia Roa from Fundaexpression, working with local communities in Columbia
- Svetlana Slesarenok from Black Sea Women’s Club, Ukraine
- Annabell Waititu, Programme Coordinator of Institute of Environment and Water in Kenya
- Koin Etuati is an Energy Officer of the Pacific Energy and Gender Network in Fiji
- Gotelind Alber, renewable energy and climate policy adviser, co-founder of GenderCC, Germany

Moderators:

- Dorah Lebelo, working with Greenhouse project in South Africa
- Titi Soentoro, is monitoring the public finance, among others the Asian Development Bank, Indonesia

Introduction on the process of the side event

- First round would be about work of the panelists in their countries on women, gender and climate related issues
- Second round will be on their impression after more than a week monitoring and involving the discussions in COP 14. Following that, on their thoughts what their respective government should do at home and towards COP 15 in Copenhagen
- Third round: what are our collaborative thoughts to be done for COP 15 in Copenhagen
- In between questions, comments and input are welcome
