

Smart Grids for saving energy and protecting the environment – the role of regulation

Wednesday 9th December 2009 from 18h15 to 19h45

Official side event of United Nations Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen - COP 15

All side event rooms are inside the conference venue

Bella Center, Copenhagen, Denmark

Location: Saxo Grammaticus

Check http://regserver.unfccc.int/seors/reports/events_list.html?session_id=COP15

Agenda

- | | |
|---------------|--|
| 18:15 – 18:20 | Session Chairman: Mr Finn Dehlbæk - Regulator, Danish Energy Regulatory Authority (DERA) |
| 18:20 – 18:40 | How smart grids can help meet Europe's climate change targets - the drivers, solutions and regulatory challenges
Mrs Una Shortall - Deputy Secretary General, Council of European Energy Regulators (CEER) |
| 18:40 – 18:55 | The Californian approach to smart grid policy - a regulatory perspective
Mrs Dian M. Grueneich - Commissioner, California Public Utilities Commission |
| 18:55 – 19:15 | Smart regulation to make smart grids meaningful – the experience of China
Mr Fuqiang Yang – WWF International Climate Director and former Chief Representative of the China Sustainable Energy Program in Beijing |
| 19:15 – 19:30 | Smart electricity grids in a context of sustainable development objectives – the industry perspective
Mr Per Hallberg – Chairman, WG Smart Grids/ Networks of the Future, the Union of the Electricity Industry (EURELECTRIC) |
| 19:30 – 19:45 | General Discussion with participants |

Following the event, all participants are invited to a reception outside of the meeting room.