

ENVIRONMENTAL
CHANGE INSTITUTE

Tyndall°Centre
for Climate Change Research

Bali COP/MOP Side Event - Friday, 7th December 2007

How do we reduce GHGs and contribute to sustainable development? Insights from unpublished research

When: Friday, 7th Dec 2007 from 18:00 to 19:30

Where: 'SOLAR' (Grand Hyatt)

Chair: Professor Diana Liverman, Director Environmental Change Institute (ECI), University of Oxford

Programme

18.00 – 18.10 Welcome and introduction

Professor Diana Liverman (ECI, Oxford, Tyndall)

18.10 – 18.45 Insights from unpublished research

- Prof Yadvinder Malhi (ECI, Oxford): Climate change, avoided deforestation and the resilience of the Amazon
- Dr Emily Boyd and Philip Mann (ECI, Oxford): Governing CDM for Sustainable Development and programmatic CDM: Lessons learned and future prospects
- Dr Heike Schroeder (ECI, Oxford, Tyndall): Looking where the action is: The role of cities in climate mitigation
- Dr Heather Lovell and Adam Bumpus (ECI, Oxford, Tyndall): Convergence in the CDM and voluntary offset markets
- Prof Diana Liverman (ECI, Oxford, Tyndall): Deep cuts - easy or not?
- Q&A

18.45 – 19.00 Panel discussion

Dr Adrian Fernandez, President of the National Institute of Ecology, Mexico

Robert Tippmann, Head of Policy Advisory Services, EcoSecurities

19.00 – 19.30 Reception with drinks and snacks

For more information on ECI's research activities see: www.eci.ox.ac.uk/bali

Environmental Change Institute,
University of Oxford
Centre for research, outreach and graduate studies in environmental change and management www.eci.ox.ac.uk

Tyndall Centre for Climate Change Research
Researching sustainable responses to climate change
www.tyndall.ac.uk