A low carbon transport under different regimes?

Financial and institutional changes such as CDM and other future mechanisms do need to be better adapted to help finance a more sustainable transport system in the developing world. A clear proposal for a pilot period post 2012 specifically addressing rail and urban transport will be discussed.

Key transport experts from the host organisations will discuss with governmental representatives and donor institutions how to help finance and send clearer signals.

Please come and visit us at the joint TRL, GTZ, UITP & UIC Exhibition stand!
