

Green Actions in China

China has started its efforts for combating climate change. To display the efforts by different players, in this side event, we will share the work done by academies, civil society groups and business sectors in China. A new path of development incorporating with disaster risk mitigation and reduction will be introduced based on China's experience and the bottom-up actions initiated by NGOs will be shared with the audiences.

Time: 16:45-18:15 Mon, 05 Dec 2011

Venue: Room Levubu River, Durban Exhibition Centre

Moderator

Mr. Liang Yingnan

Department of International affair, China Association for Science and Technology

Speakers

Dr. Qian Ye Beijing Normal University

Framework of green actions in the context of global climate change risk

Dr. Michael Glantz University of Colorado Bouldre

Green bank and climate change risk disclosure

Dr. Fuqiang YANG Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC)

C+: China's NGOs effort to combat climate change in local level

Mr. Fangyi YANG Shanshui Conservation Center

The pathway for low carbon rural village in China

Mr. Li Jie China Energy Conservation and Environmental Protection Group (CECEP)

China's green development for energy efficiency industry

Mr. Xie Tian Greenriver Environmental Protection Association of Sichuan

To promote the establishment of ecological community in Qinghai-Tibet Plateau --the adaption to climate change of the source region of Yangtze River

This side event is co-organized by China Association for Science and Technology, Shanshui Conservation Center and Greenriver Environmental Protection Association of Sichuan, China.

For any enquiry, please contact: Mr. Fangyi YANG E-mail: fyang@shanshui.org